

Photo Gallery Installed

Contributed by govharass
Saturday, 12 August 2006
Last Updated Monday, 14 August 2006

A Photo Gallery has recently been added to Government Harassment web site. Click the photo on the left to go to the Perp Collection. This gallery can be used to upload images for use in blogs as well as throughout this site once you have authorization to publish articles. The first thing the site would like to see is everyone post a Harassment Profile. This feature has been opened up to everyone, so please spend the time to input what has been happening to you as far as harassment. I can assure I am going through severe harassment of all types, with my head constantly under attack. It has been a very trying undertaking creating this site, but I felt it was worth the effort to create a site where folks can document the harassment at torture they are going through. This above picture can be found in the gallery section of the site and depicts someone waiting on the side of the road, sending what I firmly believe are telepathic signals at my head, inflicting pain.

Here is another picture, which also can be found in the gallery. I am currently undergoing street theater type situations, where people drive down the road, following me, inflicting pain signals to my head. This particular PERP sent a V2S type of signal, mocking me. There was no doubt the message originated from him, as well as the pain signals, this is the reason I firmly believe Telepathic-ESP has been harnessed and is being used to harass and torture.

These are just a couple pictures and stories I have regarding the torture I have been living with for over 3 years now. I hope everyone who visits this site will find some use of some of the many features it possesses. If you have any questions regarding the Photo Gallery, the MCForum, or Blog capabilities, or better yet if you would like to post some stories and news, please feel free to contact me here (using the contact or News features) or at the MCForums.